You may love her at a distance;
You may worship her afar;
You may gaze upon her beauty
As you would upon a star;
And get near enough to tease her,
But be satisfied with that—
You can never hope to squeeze her,
In that Merry Widow hat.

John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels played to a good-sized audience at the Washington Theater last night. To those who like this class of amusement Vogel's Minstrels fill the bill, but outside of the overture and first act stage settings and the electrical effect there were the same old, stale, chestnutty jokes and horse play that makes a burnt-cork production tiresome. The "circus music" was excellent and the topical songs of Charley Gano were as good as the best, and his pokes at the girls and at Maysville's filthy water were apt and hit the bull's eye of laughable approval.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

The Republican Executive Committee of Fleming county has called a convention for May 24th for the purpose of selecting nominees of the Republican party for county offices to be voted for at the regular November election.

Mitchell Davis, colored, better known as Bud Davis, was incinerated by a fire that started in his cabin, and which also consumed the suburban home of C. J. Arthur at Millersburg Sunday morning. His remains were brought to Maysville and buried in the Cemetery at that place yesterday afternoon.

A drunken fellow, astride a horse, galloped through Second street in the East End yesterday afternoon flourishing a revolver in a reckless manner and yelling in a wild Indian fashion. His action created consternation among pedestrians passing along the street, who fled for safety in fear of their lives. He evidently belonged in the upper part of Mason or Lewis county.

"America's Winter Playground."

DAYTONA, FLA., February 24th, 1909.

I came here yesterday for a change of scene—and got what I came for, with a few added and wholly unexpected charms; for of a verity this is the most enchant-

"I'm Talking to You!"

ing city in all Florida. It seems to have been dropped down into the midst of a primeval forest of giant liveoaks, pines and palms, or to have sprung up under the influence of a magician's wand.

The city was founded in 1870 by Mathias Day of Mansfield, O., who named it Tomoka; but a year later Thomas Saunders, the landscape gardener of Washington City, gave it the title of Daytona, in honor of its founder. Its promoters set out to make it a typical New England village, with the residential bee uppermost in their bonnets; and the many palatial homes, pretty cottages, beautiful wide lawns and embowered avenues, with an almost painful absence of "shops," are quite conclusive evidences of the successful accomplishment of their plans.

Did you ever picture a place before you saw it—and get it all wrong? I have, and this is one of the times. I thought the Halifax river was probably a trifle larger than Goose creek; but it's a mile wide at Daytona, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages and hospitable hotels overlooking its bosom, electric launches and motor-boats ditting in all directions, a veritable Mecca for fishermen, the Halifax is a thing of beauty and a joy to every fellow who can sit on Beach avenue and look out upon it. Then I thought Seabreeze was on the other side of Daytona, when in fact Daytona is on the West side of Seabreeze, with the Halifax flowing between, but spanned by several bridges built on piling.

To my mind, Ridgewood avenue is Daytona's crowning glory. It runs through the center of the city North and South, on the crest of a broad ridge, is eighteen miles long and as straight as the crow flies. On either side the wide-spreading branches of massive liveoaks extend their giant arms across this magnificent vista, forming a perfect arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade-winds from tropical seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along you see on either hand charming cottage homes in most delightful settings. The Architect of the Universe gave to Daytona its picturesque natural setting in the forest of giant trees, and Man sacrificed only such as absolutely necessary to lay out sidewalk and street and foundation site—thus making the entire city a magnificent park.

But I'm stuffing your space too full of Daytona, so I'll take a drive Northwest to Ormond. Six miles up Kidegewood avenue, passing numerous orange groves golden with luscious fruit, you come to Ormond, an unpretentious hamlet on the West bank of the Halifax. Crossing the river here, you are confronted by another of the chain of Flagler hotels, the Ormond, Ormond-on-the-Halifax. It is a massive wooden structure, six stories in height, covering some five acres, and has capacity for 600 guests on the $5 per day plan—up! When I looked upon that stupendous pile of lumber and saw a single fire escape at the main front—well, I hope it won't happen!

From the Ormond to the sea beach is less than half a mile and here we enter on the world-famous Ormond-Daytona beach for a drive of eight miles to Seabreeze. This is the racing ground for automobiles. The sand packs so firmly that the wheels of a vehicle make no impression upon it, and nowhere else in any country has been found such a combination—width of beach and solidity and smoothness of surface. Here, to the never-ceasing roar of the surf on the left, the many-shaded green of old Ocean seemingly touching the horizon, the snowy white-caps tossing at our feet, we bowled lazily and dreamily along, caring very little whether school kept or not.

At Seabreeze I drove through the ruins of the Clarendon Hotel, another immense lumber-pile, which burned last Sunday morning, with a loss of some $400,000, but fortunately without loss of life. A jaunt through this pretty little place and then across the wonderful Halifax to my Daytona hotel for a good dinner at 6 o'clock and a peaceful night's slumber.

By-the-way, if any of your readers think of coming here, I take pleasure in recommending to them the Saratoga Inn, delightfully situated on Beach avenue, with a fine view of the river, an excellent cuisine, courteous attention, nice rooms and moderate prices. This is not a paid ad.; I volunteer it in behalf of Mr. John J. Maguire, Proprietor, who was pleased to see a "Man from Maysville." He hasn't seen one since the Tri-ennial at his home town, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Alter all, my estimate of Daytona is: It's a delightfully quiet place to die in, but as for living there—

I'll take the chances in dear old Maysville!

Thomas A. Day

Mr. Michael Cogan, who was taken down three weeks ago with typhoid fever, is reported dying at his home in East Sixth street this morning.

A colored damsel attempted suicide in the muddy, murky waters of the Ohio at the foot of Wall street last night. She was prevented from committing the rash act by her lover, whom she in turn thrashed for his interference.

The Degree Team of Limestone Lodge No. 36, Knights of Pythias, of this city, has been invited by the Lexington Lodges to confer the First Rank on a number of candidates some time this month. The Maysville team is considered one of the best teams of any Lodge in the State. It is the largest and puts the work on in a little different style from what is usually seen.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. TWO SIZES—50c. AND $1.00 J. ## SOCIAL EVENTS

Mr. Augustine (Pia) Record.

In honor of George Washington's birthday the guests of the Mason House enjoyed a very pretty military euchre last evening. The parlors were appropriately decorated for the occasion with American flags and streamers of hunting and presented an extremely pretty appearance. Prior to the commencement of the games Mr. J. Moulton of Baltimore made a patriotic address that was enthusiastically received by his audience, and the National airs were sung by all. Then military euchre became the order of the evening. The players occupied ten forte, and, appropriately enough, so Fort Marion heeded the honor of winning the prizes offered. These prizes were very handsome and suited to the occasion, and were awarded Mrs. Vicar of New York, Miss Wiseman of Philadelphia, Miss Anna Crawley of Newport, Ky., and Mr. Davis of Maysville, Ky.

DON'T EXPERIMENT

You Will Make No Mistake if You Follow This Advice

Never neglect your kidneys.

If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are all symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is known to cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has cured many stubborn cases in this vicinity.

Can Maysville residents demand further proof than that contained in the following testimonial?

Mrs. Mary C. Evans, Vanceburg, Ky., says: "I had troubles by disordered kidneys for fifteen years. My back was very lame and I suffered from a great many other symptoms of kidney trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me more than anything I had previously used and I am therefore pleased to recommend this medicine to other sufferers."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
